

CONTROVERSIAL PAINTING . . . Local artist Louis Jansen van Vuuren's impression of our law-enforcement officers has aroused some controversy. A member of the public has complained to the police, who after viewing it expressed their disappointment with the painting. Somebody did like it, though, and bought the work for R575. Looking on is Mrs Brigitta Mercorio, custodian of the gallery where it is being exhibited.